Description :

Prsentation de l'diteurJohn Constantine had no intention of tracking down his long-lost nephew, despite the promise John made to his dead mom. But mysterious circumstances and a series of murders set Constantine out to Ireland in search of his forgotten relative. However, after a sance with his late sister Cheryl, Constantine finds that there might be a lot more connections between his nephew and these set of murders than meets the eye. In this penultimate chapter to Vertigo's longest series, Death and Cigarettes is the latest chapter in critically acclaimed writer Peter Milligan's run on HELLBLAZER.Revue de pressePraise for Milligan's Hellblazer: The Devil's Trenchcoat: "An interesting, amusing, and slightly disgusting look at one of the quieter periods of Constantine's life."IGN "It's creepy and makes me want to read the next issue, and that's exactly what "Hellblazer" should do."CBRPraise for Milligan's Red Lanterns: "Peter Milligan is a master of comics writing."USA Today "Remarkable."The New York Times "Awesome."Ain't It Cool NewsPraise for Milligan's Stormwatch: "The book is smart, entertaining, and blessed with just the proper dose of sci-fi flair to keep things unpredictable."IGNPrésentation de l'auteurJohn Constantine had no intention of tracking down his long-lost nephew, despite the promise John made to his dead mom.
