Description :

Prsentation de l'diteur'Lovely books filled with warm and likeable characters' Jill Mansell'Crafted with humour and warm romance against the backdrop of the picturesque Lake District' BooklistA gorgeous story of second chances to escape with this summer. By the bestselling author of Summer at the Cornish Caf and Return to Castle Bay, this warm and delightful read, set in the Lake District, will sweep you away. Adam Templar was Sophie's first love . . . and her first heartbreak. He was talented, brilliant and charming, and the night he finally noticed her - the real her - is one she will never forget. But she will also never forget what happened on the day he left their village for good. Ten years later, Sophie is shocked to her core when she discovers Adam has returned. Now a famous film director, he's returned to make a drama about a notorious local poet and brought his glamorous cast, crew - and girlfriend - with him. As the on-screen drama plays out, will Sophie and Adam lay the past to rest or will history repeat itself? A heartwarming and delightful read from one of the UK's most talented romance writers about second chances, new beginnings - and how one night can change your life forever. Previously published as It Happened One Night
